

---

Showing outfit

Posted by wyrdhorses - 2008/07/14 08:11

---

I am planning to take my Appy yearling to do a few showmanship classes either this year or next year (more likely next year), I have spotted a nice looking vest which is purple and white with gold accents, what else could I wear with this? I was thinking purple or black slinky with black trousers? My hat is black with a gold hat band.

Would the cream/white be to bad with a few spot?

My knowledge of showing is mostly English (dark legs with light horses, light legs with dark horses).

Any tips?

Thanks:)

---

Re:Showing outfit

Posted by amanda - 2008/07/14 08:30

---

Hi, sounds nice - black trousers and black hat very sensible as you can change outfits around those basics. maybe try the vest on with the different coloured slinkies to see which looks best.

---

Re:Showing outfit

Posted by wyrdhorses - 2008/07/14 12:02

---

Thanks for the reply:)

Do you think the cream would look ok with a chestnut based fewspot?

If I decide to do ridden shows later with her, or one of my other horses, would cream chaps be better to tie in with the vest, or black chaps?

---

Re:Showing outfit

Posted by appynospots - 2008/07/14 12:11

---

We had a chesnut based, basically few spot appy. We found that if you dressed toopale, the whole pair would disappear against the pale walls of many of the arenas.

A bit of cream around your top, will lighten up your face.

We found that most colours went well with her, even fuschia pink!

Have fun!

---