

---

New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by tansi - 2007/09/13 16:48

---

This thread discusses the Content article: New Reining Arena @ Hand

Is this still the case??? I have heard today 13th Sept, that all the reining classes are being moved to the October show at cambridge!!!! that there are no reining classes at the hand, so can you please confirm that the classes and the arena are ok at the hand.

Thank you

---

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by qhrider - 2007/09/13 17:03

---

Who did you hear this from?? I am booked into the breed show, but only for the reining and have not heard anything from the organisers. I have sent an email to the show manager and am waiting for a reply.

---

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by shaza - 2007/09/13 18:04

---

I to have heard that the reining arena isnt finished and that the reining has been moved.

---

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by michelle_towers - 2007/09/13 18:35

---

So is this 100% heard straight from the horses mouth? As in has somebody asked Tracey Haynes or someone - i was only chatting to her at the wke and she was saying how well it was coming along and that it would be finished no problem with only the issue of perhaps having temp stables at the Hand?

---

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by qhrider - 2007/09/13 18:54

---

Just heard it is off - what a nightmare with all the bookings. Difficult for me to get to David's that weekend, but will have to try now!!

---

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by Theresa - 2007/09/13 18:55

---

If anything has changed then it can only have happened in the last few days as we saw Tracy at the East Coast.

Given that any change is new news we should give the organisers a chance to communicate exactly what's happening rather than speculate.

---

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by qhrider - 2007/09/13 18:58

---

---

That is true. Just waiting for confirmation from AQHA as regards to my bookings. We still have two weeks to go!

=====

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by tansi - 2007/09/13 20:57

---

I also need to know, as have booked a stable for the show, but mainly for the reining, I hope we are going to be notified soon, as I was going to spend some time at a trainers ready for this show, so do not want to go to that expense if the classes are not on. If the arena is not and will not be ready they must know by now.

=====

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by AGF - 2007/09/13 22:30

---

As a memeber of BR council I have heard nothing of the reining classes at the breed show being cancelled, nor any information about the ground not being ready.

As far as I can tell at this point in time this is all speculation and hearsay.

I like many people out there have booked my stables and made my entries, so my only advice is that everyone waits untill an official statement that these classes have indeed been cancelled is released by either BR, AQHA-UK or the show managers.

As I do not wish to have any more phone calls from disgruntled members after a pound of flesh!

=====

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by qhrider - 2007/09/14 07:27

---

I just got this email today:

Nathan here (Tracy's husband) - due to stress related illness I have taken over from Tracy and am fielding queries on her behalf.

I'm afraid it is true that all reining classes have been pulled from the Breed show. This is because there will be no reining arena.

There will be an official announcement put out tomorrow confirming this.

Regards

Nathan

So now we wait or the official announcement, but I for one have been working on changing all my plans as of today.

=====

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by QQH - 2007/09/14 08:01

---

qhrider wrote:

I just got this email today:

Nathan here (Tracy's husband) - due to stress related illness I have taken over from Tracy and am fielding queries on her behalf.

I just wanted to say well done to Tracey for all that she has arranged for this show under very trying circumstances - the arena being unfinished is entirely out of her hands - the extreme flooding has contributed in no small way to this situation

---

- the contractors who are doing this surface are booked to do another near me and are way overdue owing to the loss of so many weeks.

The organisation of any show is a huge task, and usually a fairly thankless one so with disappointment running high over this setback I just felt it was appropriate to say a quick thank you!!:)

Jude

=====

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by michelle_towers - 2007/09/14 09:12

---

Hear hear - a real shame that the arena will not be ready - but i hope many of you will still support the show!

=====

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by Theresa - 2007/09/14 09:18

---

Agreed.

I am looking forward to the show, Tracy has put a lot into it - it will still be great show:)

=====

Re:New Reining Arena @ Hand

Posted by rosie - 2007/09/14 14:58

---

sorry to hear of the tribulations re the breed show,especially after tracy's hard work, but lets all hope it all goes smoothly and everyone has a good time.

rosie

=====