

---

Trail help

Posted by misty - 2006/12/30 20:35

---

I would like to do some trail classes if I can ever find some but need to train. I have got a trainer but is there anybody out there who could let me know the dimensions of things like gates and bridges and any other stuff I would need? I have only watched it twice and can't remember all the equipment. Other half is very handy and we have friends with welders!

=====

Re: Trail help

Posted by billywhiz - 2006/12/30 21:22

---

The WES rule book gives some basic dimensions for trail obstacles. GG Engineering sell an excellent trail gate for a reasonable price. Bridges built from well constructed frames are easy to do. Poles, if limited space then form a cross with gaps at the centre so you can side pass, back through the centre, jog over, walk over and lope over.

Carol Gatt runs a trail practice session in Gloucestershire (details on WES website). Carol Wright specialises in trail in Oxon area.

I believe there is going to be a Grand Prix Trail event at next years international Bodiam Show.

=====